

ID numbers must be posted

In a town as large as New Milford, emergency service volunteers and police remind all residents that every second counts for police, fire and emergency medical services.

Residents should post identification numbers so they can be seen clearly from the roadway. These are otherwise known as “911” numbers.

This will assist emergency personnel with quick and easy determination of residential and commercial locations throughout the town.

In the New Milford Code of Ordinances, Chapter 5 Article 13 pertains to "Display of Identification Numbers" and requires address numbers to "be conspicuously placed above, or at the side of the proper door of each building so that the number can be seen plainly from the street line" by the property owner(s). Failure to comply' with this requirement can cost as much as $100 in penalty fines.
